WEATHERS GAINS LEGISLATIVE ENDORSEMENTS
MAJORITY OF REPUBLICAN LEGISLATORS ENDORSE S.C. AG. COMMISSIONER

Columbia, SC- South Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers, who is seeking election for a full four-year term, announced he has garnered endorsements from a majority of Republican legislators in the General Assembly. Of 100 Republicans in the General Assembly, 55 endorsed Weathers.

“I am honored by the faith these leaders have in my leadership skills and vision for agriculture in South Carolina,” Weathers said. “I believe this reflects my commitment to improving the Department of Agriculture by making it more efficient and effective.”

Weathers, who was appointed Ag. Commissioner in 2004 by Governor Mark Sanford, has employed his business experience and leadership skills to transform the Department of Agriculture by streamlining upper management positions, making better use of appropriations, and fighting hard to bring new agriculture jobs to South Carolina.

“With four more years and the help of our elected officials and grassroots leaders across our state, we will work to grow a better agriculture industry in our State,” said Commissioner Weathers.
